HISTORY

YOS S. THEOSABRATA

LEONARD THEOSABRATA

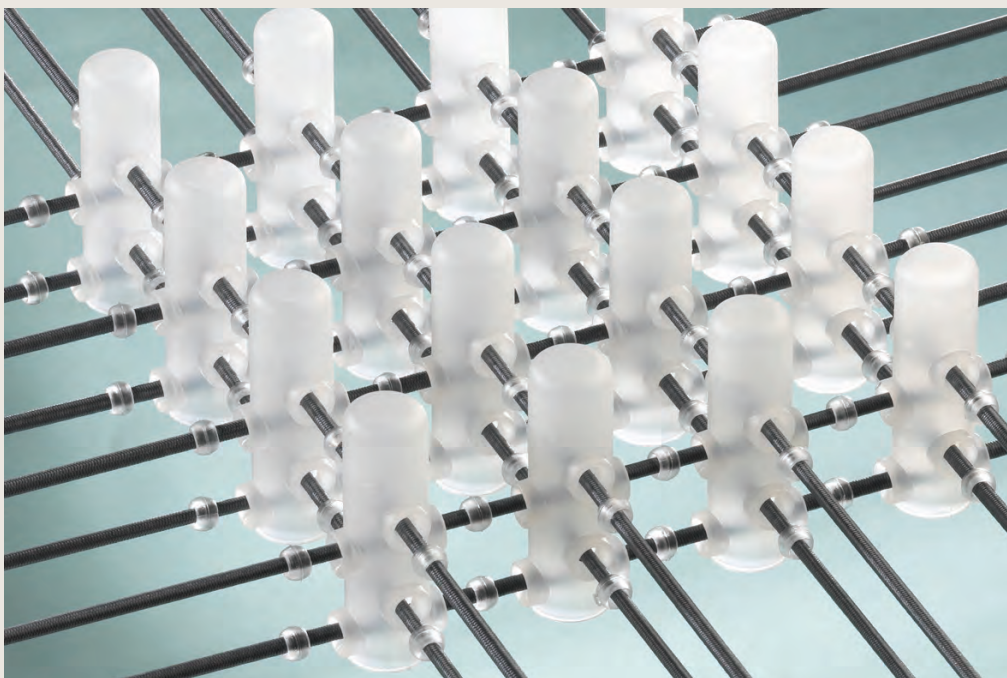

Meet Accupunto. The brand was born out of a collaboration between Father and Son that brings to gather design synergy of past and present. The first series of Accupunto, Ergonic, took an ancient method of accupressure and transform it into living furniture.

Its Ergonic series have received numerous international awards and publications. Ergonic utilizes an international patented system that forms the contour of the users.

The other collections, resulted from a fruitful collaboration with Michael Young, Hongkong base designer, has since 2009 awed the world of furniture design.

Innovation and development have always been the core beliefs of the company and it has carried the brand through its venture in introducing new and original products from Asia - specifically: Indonesia.

THE ERGONOMIC PATENTED TECHNOLOGY

A spectacular number of entries in one single competition. An impressive record jotted in archaic buildings. Outside, the gravel chattered under the tires, the summer was due, and the grass was once again green. Inside, the prize-winning product designs are exhibited with old boilers as background – a well-worn context. Some were the usual suspects – Nokia, Porsche, , others were new comers. One of them was: Accupunto. A name foreign to the world of product design. A new player in the field.

Accupunto products uses ergonic. Award - winning Internationally patented contour forming system

MICHAEL YOUNG

Michael Young
FOR Accupunto

Presenting a first-time collaboration between Accupunto, an international furniture brand, with world renowned designer Michael Young. The collection features four signature collections in wood, plastic, fiberglass, and delicate fiber weaving by Viro. All products are made in Asia

“ We met through a mutual friend and right away I noticed his creative energy which I felt could complement my passion in design. We met in Bali, and over our chat, our mutual passion for design was immediately obvious. I like his spirit and business acumen. He has a thorough understanding of the production process in Asia, which is a place I love and am familiar with, and they know how to package my new works. I am honored to be involved in the growth of such a fresh and promising company.”

LEONARD THEOSABRATA

Leonard graduated from the Product Design Faculty at the Art Center College of Design, Pasadena, CA in 2002. His love for furniture has led him to build the Accupunto brand. Currently, he is the head of LTD studio, which focuses on interior and product design for clients such as TOTO, Aida, and Chamdani. Leonard's work is published in the book YOUNG ASIAN DESIGNERS published by DAAB Germany, featuring the most influential designers in Asia today. He was chosen as one of five young Asians to be the face of Deutsche Welle's new channel, DW-TV Asia+.

“ We have felt the need to expand our brand for quite some time. To work with Michael Young in an effort to realize this vision is a bold yet obvious step. He knows what it is like to work in Asia, and he understands our work mentality, and that's very important. It's the friendship that has developed during the process that will sustain our progress.”

YOS S. THEOSABRATA

Yos started the furniture business thirty years ago and is currently the president of several furniture, exhibition contracting, and event organizing companies. He is also the president of the Indonesian Furniture Club. Without proper initial capital to start with and formal education background in furniture design, Yos has proved his talent and business intuition in this creative industry.
